SMALL BOY SAVES LIFE OF HIS INFANT SISTER

By the presence of mind of little Timothy Hanlon, the three-year-old son of Timothy Hanlon of 1004 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, the life of his thirteen-month-old sister, Annie Hanlon, was saved yesterday afternoon. The little girl picked a match from the floor of her mother's bedroom and ignited her dress. In an instant the flames enveloped her from head to foot. Her brother was in the room at the time, and when he saw his sister's clothing ablaze he ran from the room calling his mother to "come quick, Annie

Hearing the cries of the little fellow the mother, who was in the kitchen of the home at the time, ran to the bed-room, where she found the little boy endeavoring to extinguish the flames with his hands.

Mother Smothers Flames.

The mother grabbed a woolen blanket from the bed, and, throwing it about the child, smothered the flames. About the time the blaze was extinguished the father heard the noise upstairs and went to investigate. Upon learning what had happened he procured a carriage and hurried the child to the Emergency Hospital. The burns, which principally on her face and left were treated there, and she was taken to the Providence Hoswhere it is stated today her condition is considerably improved, and she will be able to leave that institution in several days.

The report that skin will have to be grafted to the child's face is said to e untrue, as the burns she received

"I had been suffering with psoriasis for a period of ten years. It would disappear occasionally for a year or so and then return in worse form than before. The last attack came on a little over a year ago, and by early summer had covered me all over. The itching and burning were terrible, and my appearance was worse. I had tried different specialists and had the X-rays used on me, sometimes with supreme vice chancellor, and H. P. Wilsome success and at others without relief.
